John Munson, while employed in Free's mill last Thursday, had his left hand quite badly mutilated by coming in contact with one of the saws. Dr. Maynard attended him.

Halloween was duly observed by the boys of this village. They were quite moderate however in their mischief making, confining their efforts to overturning horse blocks, removing gates, changing signs etc.

The ladies of the Pedestrian Club rode out to Mrs. E. A. Wilder's and spent the afternoon of last Wednesday. The members of this organization style themselves pedestrians, we suppose, because they don't walk.

Rev. E. H. Harvey returned from his Detroit trip last Thursday. We judge by the pleasant smile he wears, that the "coming man" was well pleased with the city in which he is likely to take up his abode in the near future.

Hon. J. C. Burrows is home from Virginia where he has been, for several weeks, stumping the state in the interest of the Republican ticket. He says Mahone can only be defeated by fraud. Mr. Burrows will soon leave for Washington for the winter.

Last week Monday Mrs. Sidney Cox was attempting to feed a cow when the animal, a vicious brute, endeavored to hook her but, being unable, threw her to the ground and trampled her under its feet, quite seriously injuring her. The lady is now rapidly mending, but it was a narrow and lucky escape.

Deacon Stafford Godfrey, father of Mrs. E. Darling, died on Saturday last. Funeral services, which were very largely attended, were held on Monday. Deacon Godfrey was one of the oldest and best known citizens of Paw Paw, and was identified with many of the early improvements of the village.

Mrs. Geo. Koons, Miss Louise Bilsborrow, Charles Wilder and Ed. Thayer went to Chicago yesterday.

Frank Eaton had charge of the telegraph and ticket office of the Michigan Central at Lawton last week.

Don't forget that Will. L. Smith's Bell Ringers will be at the Opera House to-morrow night, Nov. 7th.

The following letters remain uncalled for at the Paw Paw postoffice: Mrs. Amanda Carby, Mrs. Libbie Hamlin.

Mr. Ed. Darling, of Detroit, is in town, having been called here by the death of his grand-father, the late Deacon Godfrey.

Those popular hardware dealers, J. Waters & Co., are doing a thriving business, especially in the sale of stoves, 40 of which they have already disposed of.

The ladies of the Free Baptist society will give a chicken-pie social at the residence of James Nelson, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 12th. Everybody come, as a good attendance is especially desired.

Michael Gates has posted bills announcing an auction sale of stock, grain, hay, farming implements etc., to be held at his farm, four and one half miles east of Decatur, on Tuesday next, Nov. 12th.

The pole which stood in front of Nash's store has been removed to the school house grounds where it will hereafter float the Stars and Stripes, as a symbol of the patriotic impulses and love of country of the scholars of our high school.

The following comprised the California excursion party which left Paw Paw yesterday morning: Hon. J. J. Woodman and wife; Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Smith; W. R. Hawkins; A. R. Wilder; Mrs. J. M. Longwell; Mrs. Philura Palmer, Miss Maude Hawkins.

John Domino and John Mitchell, employees of the Dyckman House, are now languishing in the county jail, having been arrested, at the instance of Mr. W. Van Antwerp on the charge of larceny. Their examination is set for Thursday, of this week, before Justice Mason.

Frank W. Dunning, who has been in the employ of Nichols, Shepard & Co., of Battle Creek, for the past 13 years has resigned his situation. He started last Monday for Rochester N. Y. where he thinks of opening a store for the sale of fine art and literary publications. We wish him success.

The Union Temperance meeting was held at the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening last, the address being delivered by Hon. C. L. Eaton. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity. The pastors of all the churches were present, with the exception of Rev. H. A. Pallister, of the Disciple church, who was detained by sickness.

Mr. Clayton Simmons, who was arrested in Ohio for alleged burglary, and whose recent trial resulted in an acquittal, has long been a resident of this place, and has ever borne a good character. The clean showing which he was able to make, by means of the affidavits of well-known citizens of this vicinity, aided largely in establishing his innocence of the crime charged.

It will be remembered that Capt. Boyne, of the steamer Glenn, rescued a little child of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Buechner, which had fallen into the water from the dock at South Haven last August. It seems that the happy parents did not forget the brave act of the Captain, for a few days since they went to South Haven and presented him with a life size bust crayon portrait of the child, elegantly framed, accompanying its presentation with appropriate expressions of their appreciation of his kindly deed. Fitting emblems commemorating the rescue, are wrought upon the frame, together with the words, "William C. Buechner, saved by Capt. Boyne Aug. 10th, 1889."

Sunday morning Oct. 27th, while Keeper Cook and family were at breakfast, two boys, inmates of the county house aged respectively 11 and 14 years, gained access to the furnace room and took some burning sticks which they carried to the upper story and deposited in a barrel of paper etc. Soon afterward another of the inmates having occasion to visit the room discovered the fire and reported it to Mr. Cook who at once caused it to be extinguished. Mr. Cook thinks that in ten minutes more the fire would have been beyond control and the entire buildings, with the possible exception of the horse barn, would have been consumed. The boys had made some threats several days previously, and while it was not thought much of, they had been watched a little more closely than usual. The boys were arrested and lodged in the county jail to await legal proceedings.

Last Wednesday afternoon the Pedestrian Club took up its weekly line of march into the country and made a raid on the hospitable home of E. A. Wilder, who literally received them with open arms, assisting them into the house with all the gallantry of a knight of the Table Round. The spacious house was placed at the disposal of the invaders and the captain at once marshalled her troops into the parlors where some very original literary productions were listened to with unstinted applause. Thus the time passed gaily on and the guests were just thinking of girding on their armor for the home-ward tramp (of Mr. Burdick's horses) when their smiling hostess suggested that they march to the dining room instead. Here they found a most delectable repast awaiting them, to which, it is needless to say, the appetites of these sturdy pedestrians did full justice. Greatly refreshed, all returned to the parlors where a short cane-drill together with some singing and speechifying was indulged in, concluding with three lusty cheers for the inmates of this lovely rural home. Soon the last notes of "Anfuiederschen" died away on the still night air, and the B. S. P. C. was home-ward bound.
